INTRODUCTION

2020 sees the world as we know it change rapidly and dramatically due to the devastating effects of the Covid-19 global pandemic.

While the world comes to terms and adapts to the immediate impacts of this event on daily life, and the long-term effects are yet to be known, it is clear the ramifications of this pandemic will continue to resonate through communities across the world in varying ways and for years to come.

It is clear now, more than ever before, the importance and value of truly innovative and collaborative partnerships, engaging in earnest efforts towards integrated planning, across all sectors.

To support our members, now and into an unknown future, GVPCP has revised and broadened its' over-arching Strategic Framework and Plan, with a simple goal to play a practical and value adding role going forward.

GVPCP will remain agile and responsive to the needs of the member agencies, which directly support the communities in which we live and work.
